TECHNOLOGIES

Bridging the gap between artists & fans through digital collectibles

You'd be shocked to hear that most of Spotify's top 0.8% of artists earn less than $50k in streaming revenue per year. The traditional music industry fails to maximize revenue and create a sense of connection for artists & fans. Arcadia is a blockchain-enabled platform that allows fans to form direct relationships with their favorite artists, while also providing music stakeholders the tools they need to monetize music videos and exclusive content.
